HARDY PLANT SOCIETY

THE HARDY PLANT SOCIETY: THE PHOTO LIBRARY

This is the current Digital Image List. It identifies plants that appear on the images presently held in the collection. In some cases we hold more than one image of the same plant, e.g. showing the whole plant; a close-up view of a flower or foliage; showing the plant in association with others, and so on.

Digital images continue to be donated to the Library and as this happens the list is revised. An up-to-date list is available for downloading on the website. It can also be requested by e-mail (as a pdf file) or by sending me 4 x 2nd-class large letter stamps to cover the cost of production and postage.

The quality of digital images in the collection varies from excellent to fair. Thumbnails of digital images can be supplied to help with your selection.

A maximum of four digital images can be sent out via e-mail. All other requests will be sent by post on a USB memory stick

Please extend the USB connector fully before use (using the button on the side). Use the "Safely Remove Hardware" before removing the memory stick from your computer.

To borrow digital images, a member should send to me, by post or by e-mail : -

1. A PRINTED list of the names of the plants to feature on the digital images (use abbreviations, so long as they are understandable). A maximum of 90 images can be sent with each request.
2. The DATE on which the digital images are to be shown - giving at least two weeks' notice. (The memory stick will be sent out by 2nd-Class Post and should arrive about one week before the date of showing.)

Immediately after the talk the images should be removed from the member's computer and the memory stick returned along with 4 x 2nd class large letter stamps to cover the cost of post and packaging. Use of the images without permission will result in a refusal of further loan requests.

The Library contains an alphabetical list of individual plant subjects and a list of other topics. Both of these are listed below. It also contains a collection of slides showing HPS activities.

Whilst every effort is made to correctly identify the images any inaccuracies should be referred back to the Photo Library. Other comments on the digital images are also welcomed.

Please mention the HPS Photo Library during your talk.

COPYRIGHT

Copies of digital images are accepted by the HPS Photo Library on condition that the HPS can lend copies to its members, publish them in its newsletters and journals and use them in displays / promotions. The photographer and the HPS Photo Library will both be acknowledged. The copyright is retained by the photographer.

The HPS Photo Library will lend the images, on a memory stick, to any of its members requesting them. They are for the member's personal use and may be shown at talks, provided that the HPS Photo Library is acknowledged. As soon as possible after the talk they must be removed from the member's computer and the memory stick returned to the HPS Photo Library. They or copies of them may not be given to other persons, copied to other persons' computers, altered in any way or be published without the consent of the HPS Photo Library.

Donations of digital images (with plant identified) are always welcome! With only a few exceptions all the digital images in the Library have been donated by HPS members; if you borrow from the Library you might also be able to give to the Library.
